THE NEXT GENERATION LEAHY

Cole patrons may remember Leahy, the Canadian Celtic group, which performed as a part of the 2008-2009 DeWitt Series. The adults in that group have passed the musician baton (as well as the talent and love for music) to a new generation of performers!

Building on more than three generations of musicianship, Doug and Jennifer Leahy and their six children are keeping the Leahy tradition alive through music, song, and dance. It is no surprise, then, that their children inherited that same understanding and passion for music. Born into the show biz, the Leahy children feel the music pulsing through their veins. From the youngest to the oldest, they are not only successfully upholding, but contributing to the Leahy legacy created by the generations that preceded them.

Live performances are filled with the high-energy, infectious Celtic-based music. Fiddle, cello, French accordion, vocals, piano and French-Canadian step-dancing all find a voice on stage. The Leahy children, so in love with what they do, enamor audiences worldwide. The music emanating from these children is other worldly. It is joyful and unique, and it is talent beyond their years.

The raw talent that these young children possess is an inspiration to other children and families alike, proving that young people are capable of far more than they are given credit for. The joy of music is meant for all, and Doug and his family are set on sharing that joy with each and every audience.

DeWitt Season ticket holders use their tickets for entry but single show tickets are available for $30.00-$50.00 each. Call 910-410-1691 for ticket details or visit the box office at the venue at 1042. W. Hamlet Ave., Hamlet, NC.
